Table 7.1.b - Operations and Support

Table 7.1.b - Operations and Support
Operations and Support		What do you have to report to the administration? Those are mostly business operation processes. This list is comprised of examples to help you think about your own business operation processes. Some operational actives include hiring faculty, setting academic policies, overseeing the budget, fundraising, and other administrative duties. Other operational processes include: classroom teaching assignments, student advising and counseling activities, scholarly and professional activities, community and college service activities, administrative activities, business and industry interaction, special research programs and projects, thesis and dissertation supervision and direction, if applicable, non-traditional teaching. This list is only some examples to help you think about your own support services. Support services can include computer labs, structured assistance or supplemental instruction in math, reading, and English. Support can be emotional, physical, financial, academic, or spiritual. It could be computer-assisted instructional laboratories, study groups, tutoring, writing assistance, disability resources and technology help.
